

Reliable Power Supplier Divided

Since 2007 SCANPOCON with its 26 years of experience in UPS, generators, power supplies, batteries, and DC-systems has been a part of Coromatic Group.

- In order to strengthen market positions and exploit synergies with the Swedish parent company SCANPOCON has been divided into two business units which will continue in cooperation – but marketed respectively as SCANPOCON A/S and Coromatic A/S, says former Managing Director of SCANPOCON, Mr. Lars Baun Sørensen, now Managing Director of Coromatic A/S.

SCANPOCON A/S will consist of nine experienced colleagues whose sole focus is on power supplies, inverters, and other technical solutions for customers who primarily work in industries such as energy, wind, telecom, rail, maritime, and mobile solutions.

The New Coromatic A/S

Coromatic A/S will be represented by 25 skilled employees who focus on reliable power supply for industrial and data center markets namely UPS and generators, as well as DC-systems, but also total data center projects including cooling, fire control, management, servicing, all in all a full service commitment to meet customers' continuity strategies.

Securing Business as Usual

Mr. Sørensen points out that both companies still aim at giving their customers the best possible solutions and service. Apart from an increased focus customers will not notice any changes as the people, products, and services remain unchanged.

- As you know the Coromatic pay-off is “Securing Business as Usual”, and that is exactly how we plan to service our markets”, says Mr. Sørensen.
